Opening Spaces Contemporary African Women

African women are seldom given the space to express their concerns, their ideas and their reflections about the societies in which they live. In situations where a good woman is expected to remain silent, literature can provide an important medium for the expression of deeply-felt and sometimes shocking views.

Opening Spaces: An Anthology of Contemporary African Women ...

Opening Spaces is an anthology of contemporary African Women's writing, edited by Yvonne Vera, whose introduction is probably one of the best I've ever read from an anthology. This book sought to celebrate recent (at the time of publication) writings by African women united in their views through the "prism of a combined womanhood" and for the first time since I've been reading anthologies, I thoroughly enjoyed every story (except one).

Black feminism holds that the experience of Black women gives rise to a particular understanding of their position in relation to sexism, class oppression, and racism. The experience of being a black woman, it maintains, cannot be grasped in terms of being black or of being a woman, but must be elucidated via intersectionality, a term coined by legal scholar Kimberlé Crenshaw in 1989.
